NOON REPORTS.

Congressional Nominations.

ST. LOUIS, August 5.—Special dispatches say the Democrats of the 11th District of Missouri yesterday nominated John B. Clark, Jr., for re-election to Congress and the Democrats of the 10th District nominated Chas. H. Mansur to succeed Congressman G. T. Rothwell.

PAOLA, KAN., August 5.—The Republicans of the 2nd Congressional District yesterday nominated Dudley C. Haskell for Congress by acclamation.

DETROIT, MICH., August 5.—The Republicans of the 3rd District, nominated Judge Lackey for Congress.

CINCINNATI, O., August 5.—A dispatch to the Gazette says the Republican Convention, at Newark, Ohio, nominated I. B. Clarke, editor of the American, for Congress from the 13th Ohio District.

The Democrats at Morrow, Ohio, yesterday nominated General J. Durban Ward for Congress from the 3rd District.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 5.—The 4th Congressional Democratic District Convention, at Los Angelos yesterday, nominated Wallace Leach for Congress.

Dr. Tanner.

NEW YORK, August 5.—Dr. Tanner, at 1:30 p. m., yesterday, had a warm foot bath to relieve congestion of the stomach, and in half an hour after he went to sleep. He awoke at 7 o'clock very irritable, and vomited water tinged with bile. After this he took an alcoholic vapor bath and was rubbed dry and put to bed. He said he felt weaker and not quite so well. He had another vomiting attack about 10 o'clock, but at midnight he was quietly sleeping.

Against Time.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., August 5.—Maud S. and St. Julian both have been secured for the races, each to test three heats against time on Thursday next, for a purse of $2,000 to each horse, Maud S. to beat St. Julian's best time, 2:12¾, and St. Julian to eclipse the best time ever made by any trotter or pacer. The event arouses intense interest.

South Carolina Republicans.

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 5.—A special says: "The Republican party in this State have determined to run a State ticket, and a call has been issued for a convention to be held on the 2d of September next, for the purpose of nominating State officers and Presidential Electors. Ex-Judge Samuel W. Melton is prominently spoken of as the Republican nominee for Governor."

Foreign Items.

LONDON, August 5.—Mr. Gladstone passed an excellent night and is making satisfactory though slow progress.

A Bombay dispatch, dated yesterday, says that Mr. Griffin had a second interview with the Ameer, who is nervous on account of the unsettled temper of his followers.

According to present calculation Parliament will rise on the 27th or 28th instant.

No Tidings Received.

ST. JOHN'S, N. B., August 5.—No tidings of the ship Edith Troop has been received since she was sighted off Cape Hatteras, over three months ago. She is now 101 days out from New Orleans. Her owners are satisfied that she will never be heard from again, and have filed their claims for insurance.

Ship Building.

LONDON, August 5.—A St. Petersburg dispatch says the Russian government has decided to construct ten clippers, five of which will be built under a contract with Mr. Barker, an American, in the United States, and the remaining five in England and Germany.

Invitation Accepted.

HARTFORD, CONN., August 5.—The Putnam Phalanx voted last night to accept the invitation of the Gate City Guard and the local authorities of Atlanta, Ga., to visit that city in October, on the occasion of a military celebration there.

Death of a Prominent Citizen.

SAVANNAH, GA., August 5.—A private telegram from Philadelphia announces the death yesterday in that city of G. W. J. Greene, one of the most prominent and wealthy citizens of Savannah.

MIDNIGHT REPORTS.

Meeting of Prominent Republicans.

NEW YORK, August 5.—The corridors of the Fifth Avenue Hotel were crowded this morning with Republican politicians from all parts of the country to attend a conference called at noon to-day. General Garfield received a large number of visitors this morning.

Ex-Gov. Jewell, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, called the conference to order and presided. He made a brief address touching its object, and was followed by Wm. E. Chandler, of New Hampshire; Dr. Geo. Loring, of Boston; Senator John A. Logan, of Illinois; Hon. W. W. Hicks and Hon. J. C. Conoley, of Florida; Hon. John Cessna, Chairman of the Pennsylvania State Committee, and Ex-Congressman J. H. Sypher.

Hon. D. D. Loring, of Massachusetts, offered a resolution that it was the sense of the meeting that the Southern States should be assisted whenever such assistance was demanded, and that the campaign should not be abandoned in any Southern State.

This was discussed at some length and finally adopted.

Ex-Gov. Pinchback, of Louisiana, spoke of the colored Republicans of the South and said they had received no encouragement, and also that they had never been taught to exercise their manhood. They had been told by their representatives, both white and black, that they must not assert their manhood as it was unsafe for them to do so. The danger to them, they were told, if they did this was that they would grace a tree at the end of a rope.

Hon. James G. Blaine stated that all that had been said so far about abandoning the South had been said by Southern men, and not by a single Northern man. The first work he thought was to try to carry Maine; Ohio could take care of herself. They should also put all their force into Indiana.

Senator Logan, of Illinois, and Mr. Gough, of West Virginia, then made brief addresses.

Ben Harrison, of Indiana, said there was not a local feud to be settled anywhere in Indiana in the ranks of the Republican party. He declared that they would have a large accession there from the Greenback party.

Dr. Tanner's Condition.

NEW YORK, August 5.—The most noticeable feature in Dr. Tanner's condition to-day is its extreme irregularity. All conversation with visitors is prohibited, and the latter are requested to make as little noise as possible. He complains of weakness at the entrails, but is buoyed up by the reflection that his task is nearly ended. During the early morning he suffered frequently with nausea, and was very restless. He slept from midnight until 2 a. m., when he had a fit of severe retching, followed by ejection of a small quantity of mucus. He dozed off again, but was awakened shortly by the odor of cigarettes, which caused nausea of the stomach, requiring a vigorous rubbing by Dr. Green to ease it. He rested quietly until forty minutes past five o'clock, when he again awoke, feeling much better. After sleeping two hours quietly he drank three ounces of spring water, but immediately after vomited a portion of it tinged with mucus. Vigorous rubbing by a physician brightened him up and accelerated the action of his heart. At 10 o'clock he was given a mustard foot bath and his body sponged with mustard water and rubbed in until thoroughly dry. At noon the 38th day ended. A few minutes later he had another attack of nauseating and vomiting, but he is now resting quietly. In the morning mail he received a marriage proposal from a young widow of Hamilton, Missouri, who signed herself Mrs. Carrie E. Huntington and enclosed her picture. At 1:30 p. m. Dr. Tanner's pulse was 82, temperature 98 1-5, respiration 13, and weight 122¼. The dynometer showed 79 for the right hand and 78 for the left.

Decision in Railroad Cases.

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 5.—The opinion of Chief-Justice Waite and Judge Bond in the case of Calvin Claflin and others against the South Carolina Railroad Company was filed in the United States Circuit Court to-day. The opinion holds that all hypothecated bonds are good, and that non-mortgage bonds are not entitled to the benefit of a lien of second mortgage, and are an insecured claim against the Company; that first mortgage coupons held by the syndicate were purchased by them and not redeemed, and are entitled to the benefits of the mortgage; that the injunction previously granted shall continue in force until further testimony as to the amounts of the several liens on the Road can be taken. In conclusion, the opinion says, the complainants are entitled to the sale of mortgaged property subject to ascertained prior encumbrances, but until such decree is prepared, the injunctions heretofore issued shall remain in force. The opinion, therefore, sustains the defendants in the cause upon the points named, excepting as to granting a sale and the status of non-mortgage bonds as unsecured debts, on which two points the views of the plaintiffs prevail.

Nominations.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 5.—The Republican Convention of Hamilton county was held here this forenoon, and renominated Hon. Benj. Butterworth from the first district and Hon. Thos. L. Young from the second district for Congress. Both nominations were made by acclamation.

The Democratic Convention of the third district of West Virginia, held at Hinton court-house, Sumner county, yesterday renominated Hon. John E. Kenna for Congress.

Health Report.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 5.—The National Board of Health has received the following advices from Havana, under date of July 31st: There are probably 200 cases of yellow fever in the city at this date. For the week ending July 24th there were 59 deaths from yellow fever, 7 from small pox and 3 from typhoid fever. For the week ending July 31st there were 51 deaths from yellow fever and 13 from small pox.

Saratoga Races.

SARATOGA, August 5.—For the second meeting the weather was pleasant, with track muddy and heavy. In the race for 2-year olds, three-quarter mile, Jewelry won; Therea second; Mabille third. Time 1:20. Second race, mile and a quarter, Col. Sprague won; Juanita second; Slotilla third. Time 2:13.

Gov. Colquitt Re-Nominated.

ATLANTA, GA., August 5.—The Democratic State Convention to-day, on the first ballot for Governor, voted as follows: Colquitt 209; Lester 58; Hartman 54; Warren 11; and Gartrell 17.

APPOINTMENTS.

There will be joint discussions by Gov. JARVIS and Judge BUXTON, the Democratic and Republican candidates for Governor at the following places:

Kinston, Lenoir County, August 7th.
Snow Hill, Monday, August 9th.
Wilson, Tuesday, August 10th.

JUDGE BUXTON'S RECORD.

A few weeks ago we reprinted in THE NEWS, from the Fayetteville Gazette of July 15, 1875, a letter addressed to Judge BUXTON, by BARTHOLOMEW FULLER, Esq. Judge BUXTON was not then a candidate for the Judgeship; he was at that time a Judge, and was seeking election to the State Convention of 1875, that he might, if possible, prevent the amendment of the Canby Constitution, which he regarded as "a boon from Heaven." Nor was Mr. FULLER a candidate for Judge. He was a citizen of Cumberland, deeply interested in good government, and therefore as deeply concerned to defeat a man who sought to perpetuate the worst government with which a people was ever cursed. His letter to Judge BUXTON was simply a transcript from the records of Cumberland Superior Court, making plain the partisan and personal motives which controlled Judge BUXTON'S judicial conduct. The law is made for all, and should be administered without respect to persons, fear of consequences, or hope of pecuniary or political reward. The record of his conduct in Cumberland Superior Court made it plain that Judge BUXTON was a seeker after votes. It would seem that he has made a similar record in other counties. A friend in a neighboring county, a man of character and brains, who would knowingly do injustice to no human being, and who therefore never speaks or writes at random, sends us the history of a case in Granville county of the same character with the cases reported by Mr. FULLER.

"At the —— term of Granville Superior Court," our friend writes, "a colored man was indicted under the statute, for the removal of a portion of a crop of tobacco, which he had made as a cropper, on the lands of ——, a white man, before a division of the said crop had been made, before BUXTON, Judge.

"The facts, as proved before a jury, which consisted, if I am not mistaken, of seven colored men and five whites, were substantially as follows: The tobacco was, the most of it, hanging on a scaffold, and a day was appointed for a division. On that day the landlord, the cropper and one or two other colored men went to divide the crop, and the landlord commenced counting the sticks, but no tobacco was taken from the scaffold, and none was actually assigned to either party; for before the counting was finished, a misunderstanding arose between the owners of the tobacco, which rendered a division impracticable. The landlord, seeing that no division could take place, started off to the house of a neighbor, a Justice of the Peace, to get him to come over and make a division, and upon leaving he warned the defendant not to remove a leaf of the tobacco until it was divided according to law, saying that he was going after the justice to divide the crop. The landlord then left, going in the direction in which the Justice of the Peace lived. He returned after an absence of some hours and discovered that the defendant had hauled off a portion of the tobacco. This was the testimony of the landlord, who, I should have said, was a man of good character; that is I suppose he was, as there was no intimation to the contrary and no attempt to impeach him.

"The defendant introduced a colored man, who swore most positively that the crop was divided in the presence and by the consent of the landlord. On the cross examination he was asked what the landlord said when he started off. His unguarded answer to this was such a corroboration of the witness for the State, and so direct a contradiction of his own testimony, that I felt satisfied an honest jury would have discarded his whole testimony, even had not the State most successfully assailed the witness, and proved him to be a man of most infamous character, and utterly unworthy of credit. His answer to the above question was that the State's witness said to the defendant, "Don't you move any of this tobacco. I am going after 'Squire —— to get him to divide it."

"His Honor, Judge BUXTON, charged the jury, in substance, that if they believed the witness for the State the case was made out; but if they believed the witness for the defendant, then the defendant was not guilty, or if the testimony of the defendant's witness had raised in their minds a reasonable doubt as to the guilt of the defendant they ought to acquit.

"The jury took the case late in the afternoon, and, as I am informed, as soon as they entered the room six of the colored men and the five white men said the case was plain and the defendant was guilty. One colored man, however, would not agree to this, and in consequence the jury remained out all night, and when the court met next morning his Honor sent for them and said to them that he was surprised at their failure to agree. That the evidence against the defendant was so slight that if they had found a verdict of guilty he would have been compelled to set it aside, and he regretted he had not on the afternoon preceding charged that there was no evidence of removal before division. After a moment's pause he concluded: "I think I ought now to give you that charge"—and another pause, as if for reflection, and he said: "Gentlemen of the jury, I will now charge you, that there is no evidence that this tobacco was removed before division." And this in the face of sworn evidence of the State's witness to the contrary; in the face of the unguarded corroboration of this witness by the defendant's own witness, and in the face of the charge of his Honor only the preceding afternoon. His Honor then directed the Clerk to enter a verdict of "not guilty," and discharged the defendant.

"Now, what had caused this radical change of base by this upright, impartial and most pious Judge? Had he had an interview with any one during the intervening night? Had any one suggested to this most smiling aspirant for gubernatorial honors that the colored vote of Granville was a most important factor in the sum total of votes necessary to make a Radical Governor? I can't tell, but this I do know, that a most remarkable change had come over the spirit of his dream, from the time he charged the jury first in the case and the time when he delivered that most unjust and untrue charge next morning.

"I have not, Mr. Editor, mentioned the names of prosecutor, defendant and defendant's witness because I have forgotten them. I may not have stated the case with all the particulars, as I write after the lapse of a considerable length of time and from memory; but the names of the parties are matter of record in Granville county and the facts can be vouched for by a number of the best men in that county."

THE FIFTH DISTRICT.

The people of the whole State will be glad to know that the people of the Fifth Congressional District have had the good sense to nominate General ALFRED M. SCALES for re-election to the United States House of Representatives. There is no man in whom the people of North Carolina have more confidence. For more than twenty-five years he has been in their service, and he has never failed in duty either in peace or in war. His worth, his integrity, his ability, his devotion to North Carolina, have won for him the affectionate regard not only of his immediate constituents, but of the people of the whole State.

The Fifth District is composed of the counties of Alamance, Caswell, Davidson, Guilford, Person, Randolph, Rockingham and Stokes. Gen. SCALES has been its representative in the 44th, 45th and 46th Congresses, and will be returned to the 47th Congress by a large majority. In 1878 he defeated Judge A. W. TOURGEE, receiving 10,326 votes against 7,680 polled for TOURGEE.

FIFTH DISTRICT ELECTOR.

FRANK C. ROBBINS, Esq., of Davidson county, was on yesterday unanimously nominated as the Democratic candidate for Elector from the Fifth Congressional District. The honor was worthily bestowed, and will be cordially endorsed by the people of the State.

Mr. ROBBINS first entered public life in North Carolina as Senator from Davidson in the memorable Legislature of 1870-'71. His brother, Hon. W. M. ROBBINS, was a member of the Senate at the same time from Rowan. As a sagacious Legislator and unswerving friend of civil liberty, he gained no slight reputation during the sessions of that body, and became well known in the State. In 1876 he filled the same position to which he has again been called, and the size of the majority of that year in the Fifth District was due in no small degree to his efficient canvass. It is due to Mr. ROBBINS to state that the reason his official vote as Elector in 1876 fell behind the others upon the ticket, is simply because one of the western counties sent forward his vote as given to "Mr. ROBINSON," and as it was only a question of majority, and did not affect the result, the canvassers concluded not to count the vote officially.

Mr. ROBBINS is the third of the electors of 1876 who has been placed upon the ticket of 1880. The list is now nearly complete, only the first and the seventh districts being wanting. Messrs. J. M. LEACH, T. H. BUSBEE, H. R. BRYAN, D. H. MCLEAN, W. F. GREEN, F. C. ROBBINS, R. T. BENNETT and J. M GUDGER have thus far been selected.

CENSUS MATTERS.

The census returns, says the Washington Star, show that the Southern States, under the next apportionment, will gain Congressmen instead of losing, as was generally supposed. Estimates based upon the earlier returns sent in by census supervisors give to Virginia a population of 1,600,000, a gain of 400,000 since 1870; North Carolina figures out a total of 1,385,000 against 1,071,361 ten years ago. South Carolina has not increased any, nor has she lost, while Florida has gained at least 60 per cent. Georgia shows a steady gain during the past ten years, especially in her cities. Missouri has gained, since 1870, 215,525 in 43 counties, and counts upon a total population of 2,375,000, an increase for the State of 653,980 over the last census. In Tennessee the increase ranges from 3 per cent. in some localities to 102 per cent. in others. Kentucky estimates her population, from returns for 42 counties, at a total of 1,734,331 against 1,321,011 in 1870—a gain of over 400,000. West Virginia reports an average increase of 60 per cent. Arkansas has a total of 750,000, a growth of over 50 per cent. Louisiana is shown by returns from 11 parishes scattered over the State, to have increased 21 per cent., and Texas has made an average gain of over 90 per cent., giving her a total population of over 1,500,000.

We think that the Washington estimate for North Carolina will fall short of the facts. The official returns from the 4th Supervisor's District (Mr. PATTERSON'S) printed in THE NEWS last week, show a population of 264,098 in the twenty-six counties, against 196,108 in 1870; an increase of 67,990, rather more than 33⅓ per cent. In this District (Mr. CARDWELL'S) the twenty-five central counties foot up 548,042, against 414,159 in 1870; an increase of 133,883, just less than 33⅓ per cent. The returns, as printed from time to time in THE NEWS, from Beaufort, Catawba, Cabarrus, Craven, Cumberland, Hertford, Lenoir, Mecklenburg, Moore, New Hanover, Onslow, Pasquotank, Pitt, Richmond, Robeson and Union, foot up 295,864, against 231,861 in 1870; an increase of 64,003, rather less than 30 per cent. The counties of Anson, Bertie, Bladen, Brunswick, Camden, Carteret, Chowan, Columbus, Currituck, Dare, Duplin, Gaston, Gates, Greene, Harnett, Hyde, Jones, Lincoln, Martin, Montgomery, Perquimans, Sampson, Stanly, Tyrrell and Washington are yet to hear from. They had in 1870 a population of 218,156. Pamlico and Pender are new counties and cannot be compared. The actual returns sum up 1,108,004, and if the counties to hear from show no change the State's population will be 1,326,160, without estimates for Pamlico and Pender. The increase in these twenty-seven will probably be as in the other counties and the population in excess of 1,400,000.

THOMAS NAST, who has so long done the political cartoons for Harper's Weekly, is a HANCOCK man, and, what is unusual in his country, declines to use his pencil in opposition to his principles. His withdrawal from work was quickly apparent, though no announcement was made of the fact. His successor's first essay represented HANCOCK as the Trojan wooden horse, with the Democrats getting inside preparatory to capturing that modern Troy—the White House at Washington. The artist failed to remember that the wooden horse episode was successful.

Forty Acres and a Mule.

[Governor Jarvis at Clinton.]

Out in Alabama a carpet-bagger saw a negro working in the field and asked him whose land that was which he was working, and was told that it belonged to Mr. Jones. Says the carpet-bagger: "Why don't you work your own land?" The colored brother replied that he had none. Finally the carpet-bagger told him that he had come to lay him off his forty acres, and drew him a deed for it charging him ten dollars. When the owner of the land came around the duped negro ordered him to leave and produced his deed which read thus: "Know all men by these presents, that whereas Moses lifted the serpent out in the wilderness, so likewise have I lifted this d——d old nigger out of ten dollars."—Warsaw Brief Mention.

French Republicanism.

[Special to the New York Herald, 4th.]

PARISH, August 3.—The republican victory at the partial elections for members of the Councils General is even more decisive that was at first supposed. We now know the results of the voting in most of the 1,412 cantons in which elections took place. The republicans have gained 236 seats and have lost only eighteen. The monarchical parties, which until Sunday were in a majority in thirty-five departments, now barely hold their own in a dozen departments. The moderate republicans of the Ministerial shade have nearly every-where beaten the Radical candidates opposed to them, and the hollowness of the demagogic bluster has again been made manifest. It is difficult to see how the enemies of the existing institutions can rally from so crushing and cruel a defeat.

The Star fears damage to the cotton by the heavy rains this week in the Cape Fear country.

NEW YORK CORRESPONDENCE.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 4, 1880.

Col. A. M. Waddell is still stumping it in Vermont. A letter in the World, giving an account of a grand mass Democratic meeting at Rutland on Monday, says: "The principal speech was delivered by Col. A. M. Waddell, of North Carolina, who is accomplishing great results for the Democracy among our Green Mountain boys."

Dr. Tanner is within three days of the accomplishment of his fool-hardy experiment of fasting forty days. One would think that he could easily stand three days after doing thirty-seven, though some of us would be very loth to go three days without eating after having been full fed for thirty-seven days. Among the letters he is receiving daily, have been several from women who offer to marry him, written in jest, we may hope, since he has already a wife, though separated from her, she having left him for the alleged reason that he would not allow her to eat as much as she wanted. One of his letters yesterday was "from a North Carolina Doctor, who proposed a" partnership for the sale of Tanner's photograph and autograph." This might be a profitable speculation, and no doubt it had already engaged the attention of some of the wooden nutmeg people.

The Sun gives an amazing account of the profits of Jay Gould on stock operations within a year past. A year ago he sold 100,000 shares of Union Pacific for about $7,500,000. Then he bought a controlling interest in Kansas Pacific, which was at 12, for about $600,000, and in the next six months the stock rose to 92, netting $4,000,000. Wabash was at 18 when Gould bought two-thirds of the stock, and it rose later to 68¼. His profits on the consolidation of the St. Louis Northern (which he bought at 7½ and saw rise to 47) and Wabash are put at $4,850,000. In all, by spending about $3,850,000 for stocks, Gould has netted $11,000,000. I am told that he is a quiet, unpretentious literary man, who finds time in the midst of these gigantic operations to read Latin and Greek classics. He is said to own a controlling interest in the Tribune, and does not stand well in Wall Street, which may or may not be discreditable to him.

The World has the Tribune on the hip. The latter called lustily a month ago, viz.: on the 3d of July, for the publication of a letter which it said Gen. Hancock had written to Gen. Sherman in December, 1876, avowing, so the Tribune said, the revolutionary purpose of receiving his orders as an officer in the army from Tilden, in case Hayes should be wrongfully inaugurated President. The Tribune claimed that this matter should be probed to the bottom, and offered its own columns to Gen. Hancock. The World thereupon telegraphed all over the extreme West, where Gen. Sherman then was, and finally got from him a certified copy of the letter, which it published on Sunday last. But instead of the revolutionary letter described by the Tribune, it turns out to have been such a one as only a patriot and statesman could have written, and the Tribune did not copy it! at least had not done so up to Tuesday, nor had the Times copied it. There could be no higher compliment to the letter, for it is the admission of the enemy that it contains nothing that can be objected to, but much that it was not safe to let its readers see, lest they should fall in love with Gen. Hancock. It is certainly a most able and admirable letter.

When a man was sentenced in Brooklyn on Monday to two and a half years in the penitentiary for bigamy in marrying two wives, an elderly lady stepped forward and told the judge that the fellow had married her daughter before either of the other two.

New York city consumes ninety-three millions of gallons of water daily, and is laying pipes for a larger supply. This is about ninety gallons to every inhabitant. Large consumers, such as hotels and manufactories, have meters, and pay one cent for every hundred gallons used. The Windsor hotel consumes forty thousand gallons a year. The average consumption in cities in this country is about three times as great as in those of Europe.

The fretful people and press have prevailed, and "vagrom" cats are doomed in this city. The Board of Aldermen has passed an ordinance framed by Mr. Bergh, President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, authorizing the capture and drowning of all vagrant cats—tramps I suppose they may be called. The human animals are those who have thus enlisted Mr. Bergh's kindly care, for he contends that the public rest and sleep are interfered with by the caterwauling. This is no doubt true to some extent, for peevish people will allow themselves to be fretted by even less trials than this. But if we attempt to legislate out of existence all the petty annoyances of life, what will be left? Somebody may propose to catch and drown Mr. Bergh himself, for, though like the cats, he is useful in his proper sphere, he sometimes makes a prodigious fool of himself. He reminds me of a very worthy Northern man, a merchant of Fayetteville when I first went there, of whom I was very fond, for he was a clever and intelligent man, whose mental idiosyncracies were simply amusing. On one occasion, whilst I was sitting with him, an auctioneer's bell-man passed, interrupting our conversation. "I wish I was king of Fayetteville for an hour," said he, gritting his teeth, "I'd hang every d——d auctioneer's bell-man." Poor fellow, he died long ago, or I would recommend him to Mr. Bergh for an assistant. He was a kindly man, only peevish and notional.

The passion for gambling rages in Russia. The London Telegraph states that in one club house £600,000, three millions of dollars, were lost and won in one week. More than half of it was lost by Prince Demidoff and won by his cousin, Count Schouvaloff, an aide-de-camp to the Czar. The Emperor hearing of this ordered the winner to return all but $200,000. When I was a boy in Raleigh, card playing for money was very common, not only by gentlemen but by some ladies. It may be so now among gentlemen, but not by ladies I suppose. A story was current of a card party in the room of one of the Judges of the Supreme Court, in which two gentlemen had "bragged" so high that the one who might lose would be utterly ruined, when a distinguished member of the bar snatched the cards from their hands and threw them in the fire.

A "Bachelor's Ball" lately given in London, is said to have surpassed anything previously known, as well in display as in expense, which is estimated at about a hundred thousand dollars. It was given by dukes and other nobles and fashionable men, who gave out two thousand invitations. The United States contributed some beautiful ladies as guests, as well as rare fruits. The Prince and Princess of Wales spent several hours at it. The World correspondent says: "The house itself is very easily decorated in skillful hands, but the ingenuity and trouble—to say nothing of the enormous expense—brought to bear upon it, would have turned a stable into a palace of beauty. On the gardens alone thousands of pounds must have been spent, for nearly all the flowers which bloomed in terraces and walks were brought from "nurseries" at a distance. Between thirty and forty thousand colored lamps and lanterns were used in the grounds, and the lake was made to resemble a scene in an Arabian tale. To crown all, the night was superb—the moon at the full, the sky without a cloud." H.

The City by the Sea.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

MOREHEAD, August 4, 1880.

EDITOR NEWS:—We all appreciate the sentiment of your reporter of last week in the statement that it was next to impossible to write about this delightful place. The days come and go, and we dream away the hours on the long shaded corridors, looking at "The painted ships upon the painted ocean," or sail ourselves over the beautiful rippling waves, as though life itself were one long, poetic summer idyl, and winter, with its chilling blasts, or even the sere and yellow leaf of autumn, were interminable ages off.

There are many charming married ladies here—several of them, amongst the most cultivated and entertaining women whom it has ever been our good fortune to meet. The prose and poetry of belles-lettres, literature, music, paintings, in short, all the sciences and arts are discussed in the midst of the prattle of

with an ease and volubility that might astonish some of our dreamy cloudland philosophers, or ascetic, would-be practical scientists. Then, too, there are distinguished gentlemen, handsome and gallant young gentlemen, and beautiful girls—some of the latter so beautiful that we doubt if Dante ever dreamed of, or Paul Veronese ever put upon canvas, lovelier faces. I look down as I now write upon one

WITH EYES AS DEEPLY BLUE

as ocean and sky are ever seen, strangely blending the fathomless depths of the one and the exquisite brightness of the other; her graceful figure swaying in the motions of the dance, as easily as the waves of the sea yield to the influence of the softly incoming tide;

TENNYSON'S IDEAL OF A WOMAN,

divinely tall and most divinely fair; her shapely head with no other ornament than true woman's matchless crown of glory, a luxuriant wealth of rippling hair, in the shadow a light brown, now in the light, a pale gold; beautiful, bewitching Miss E. M., of Georgia, whom none could know but to love. Already half a dozen gallant knights of Carolina have entered the list, and now their lances lie low at her feet, shivered by the glance o' her bonny blue 'een, as surely as Count Robert, of Paris, fell before the sterner tilt of his faire adversarie. Victor et Victrix: Will there be a sequel to any of these romances, I wonder? But Miss M. is not alone, for conspicuously with her shines Miss F., of the same old State, noted for its fair women and brave men, a pretty girl, with gentle, triste, poetic temperament, who receives much attention. Newbern lends two fresh, lovely young girls who would be observed and admired anywhere, and the Misses W., of Raleigh, though not participants in ballroom amusements, have many warm friends and admirers, while other towns and counties of our dear old State are proudly represented.

Mrs Gov. Jarvis is here, and her dignity, affability and the charm of her conversation have won the hearts of the whole company. Mrs. W. S. Primrose and family, from Raleigh, and Mrs. Eugene Morehead and family, from Durham, with many other ladies from our own State. The creme de la creme of Virginia society is well represented in Mrs. Col. Talcott and her family of little ones from Richmond, and that of South Carolina in that gallant soldier, distinguished jurist and upright gentleman, Judge Haskell, with his accomplished wife, who, with Mrs. Jackson, furnish a large per centage of the infant battalion referred to.

But I have rambled off into a much longer letter than I had designed, and I must still beg space for a word of favorable comment for and its accommodating proprietor. The paint brushes have disappeared and the sound of the hammer is no longer heard, while the "spic and span" newness of everything, from the bedding and furniture to the shining cutlery and table ware, is simply delightful. If any visitor here now could think of complaining we should just like to know where they were raised. Of course there are always croakers in all large crowds who, if transported unawares into Buckingham Palace, would declare everything plain and unattractive, and would deplore the

COMFORTS THEY LEFT AT HOME, and from such there is no protection. But there are parties here who have summered in Switzerland and at nearly all the noted resorts of our country, and they pronounce this place a decided success. Marketing arrangements have now been perfected and the fare is excellent. The proprietor, Mr. Freeman, is as kind and obliging as a host could well be, doing everything to promote the comfort and enjoyment of his guests. The servants are peculiarly attentive, knocking at your door at regular intervals to know if you can be served, and your mail is brought to your room every morning just before the time for rising, so that letters and papers may be glanced over before the bell summons you to

AN EXCELLENT BREAKFAST.

We came here to stay a few days, and find ourself, at the end of three weeks, lingering indefinitely. But we see our friends out in the delicious surf, and must go for a swim. So, for the present, ADIEU!

Ah! do not let me forget to state that which were so annoying for three days here and at Beaufort, have, under the steady sea breeze, winged their flight to parts unknown, and if the observation of the inhabitants is worth anything, will not be heard from again during the season.

ENCORE, ADIEU!

Greensboro.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

GREENSBORO, August 4, 1880.

EDITOR NEWS:—The Congressional Convention to nominate a candidate for the Fifth District will convene in this city tomorrow. Delegates are already arriving, and if not prevented by swollen streams, the attendance will be large. There seems to be but one sentiment amongst them as to who will be nominated, that is will be nominated without opposition. This will be a deserved and merited compliment, for General Scales' course in Congress has been an honor to the State and reflects credit upon himself.

GEN. ALFRED M. SCALES

RADICAL OPPOSITION.

If "coming events cast their shadows before," and if "a man is known by the company he keeps," then the Greenbacker, will be the candidate for Congress in opposition to Gen. Scales. The fact that Col. T. N. Cooper, Dr. J. J. Mott, and the aforesaid Col. J. R. W., and other Republicans, simultaneously, by accident or otherwise, met in Greensboro this week at one and the same time, removes all doubt as to the truthfulness of the assertion. And besides all this, the Beacon in its last issue seems to remove any doubt as to which way it is leaning. One thing very noticeable, too, and which has been commented upon, is the many street caucuses that J. W. A. is seen to participate in with the Republican leaders; these straws show which way the wind is blowing.

COL. JOHN R. WINSTON,

DEMOCRATS ORGANIZING.

From gentlemen living in various parts of the District we learn the Democrats are organizing for an aggressive campaign, and a larger majority than ever before may be looked for for the Democratic party.

HEAVY RAINS.

This section is being visited with an abundance of rain at this time, and the appearance is that much more will fall before the breaking away of the clouds. The streams are swelling, and fears are entertained that much damage will be done to crops growing on the creek and river bottoms.

CLOSING THE CENSUS WORK.

The nailing up of boxes in the Supervisor's office indicates that the work of the census is closing up in the 2d district. The work has been very arduous, and the returns, when all are in, will show that very nearly one-half of the inhabitants of the State live in twenty-five counties embraced in the 2d district.

The execution of the work by the enumerators has been admirably done. Of the 318 enumerators, only six had their portfolios returned for copying.

The large increase of inhabitants reported this census in comparison with the increase of 1870 over 1860, is doubtless due to the thorough canvass of the enumerators of 1880. The subdivisions being smaller has enabled them to do the work more accurately.

R. A. LEIGH.

Wake Politics and Crops.

SWIFT CREEK, August 6, 1880.

MR. EDITOR:—Tax payers notice with no inconsiderable indignation the action of the magisterial board (which should never have had a Radical in it) in turning out true Commissioners to the trust intrusted to them. If any fault financially or clerically, with the accounts of these gentlemen, (Messrs. Poole, Brown and Jinks), we tax payers and country people would not have objected to the Court-House ring, helping itself, but the idea of men turning out true and tried gentlemen can not be long submitted to. If we can not get candidates to run in the coming campaign, who are not afraid to express direct and candid opinions, we had better give now without an effort, to the Court-House ring all the Democratic offices that belong to the county of Wake. Out here we do not believe that any office in this county is not at the command of the Democratic vote. It is useless to say because a man is in office that he can not be beaten, and it is a presumption on the part of the man who holds that position to express such an an opinion and it will be an everlasting disgrace to Wake's Democrats, if they do not use energy and money to clean them out.

Our cotton and corn crops are looking finely. Our Swift Creek garden has vegetables of all kinds; it covers three acres of ground, and sustains animal life with the finest of melons, corn, peas, potatoes, &c., &c. We are glad that we came here to live, and always think it was a happy Providence that caused us to do it.

The rainfall here is about sixteen inches, and it is pouring down yet; so we have suffered but little during the entire summer—our branches have not been dry, and our wells and pumps have furnished a bountiful supply.

The election of Cox to Congress hardly gives us a thought, we are so sure. Our Legislative ticket in this county has not been mapped out yet; we do not want to run any chronic cases, and spring chicken lawyers must lay in the shade, while the old roosters fight the battle this time.

The Signal Editorial Excursion.

[Special to the Baltimore Sun, 5th.]

WASHINGTON, August 4.—All the prominent Republicans about here have either gone to New York or are going to-night to be present at the Republican conference there to-morrow. Secretary Sherman left this morning and Commissioner Raum to-night. Quite a number of Southern Republicans passed through here to-day to attend the conference, at the request of Chairman Jewell, and among them were Thomas N. Cooper, Chairman North Carolina State Committee; Col. Thomas B. Keogh, Chairman of the Campaign Committee; Dr. J. J. Mott, Isaac J. Young, members of the State Committee, and James E. Boyd, District Attorney for the Western District of North Carolina. These gentlemen report that the Republicans in their State are thoroughly aroused, and propose to make a sharp canvass. They do not believe as many votes will be polled as four years ago, and are by no means confident that the State can be wrested away from the Democrats. They believe that the Republicans will, however, gain one Congressman, unless something develops not now anticipated.

The Fasting Fool's Finishing.

CLOSING SCENES OF AN EXPERIMENT THAT IS CRUEL IF REAL, AND RIDICULOUS OTHERWISE.

[From the New York Herald, 4th.]

The old school physicians discussed Doctor Tanner's condition very early yesterday morning, and they agreed that he was suffering the deepest agony. "I am so thoroughly convinced of his sincerity," said Dr. Osborne, of Bellevue, "that I would trust him to go to Delmonico's unattended, and if he promised me that he would not eat, I would believe him. He is almost fanatical on his theory of fasting, and he abstains partly as a religious duty to himself in keeping faith with the public and partly to show Dr. Hammond that he is no impostor." "I have the same opinion," added Dr. Goodman. "He must endure the tortures of the damned and yet he never complains." Just before midnight, on Monday, terrible griping spasms took hold of the doctor's stomach and crushed it as if it were in a vise. The great cords and muscles of his legs knotted, and his blood seemed to congest as if he were in the last stages of the cramp. There was no doubt that he at length reached that condition which was so ably described by Mr. Gilbert's old sailor in "The Yarn of the Nancy Bell" when he said,—

For a month we'd neither wittles nor drink
Till a-hungry we did feel.

He was so weak that he could hardly cry aloud; but he made noise enough to call the watchers. They lifted him from his cot, and placed him in a large chair by the open window, where he lay doubled up like a jackknife, with his teeth set tight together and his powerful jaws clenched. Then came a spasmodic attempt at vomiting, apparently to ease the excruciating pain in his stomach. A distressing, prolonged and feeble effort only brought up a drachm of mucus tinged with bile, and after a few gasps the faster fell back again, and his face resumed its pain-scarred but cold and passionless expression.

The night wore slowly on and the hours were struck by the clocks of the neighboring churches, but the "man of nerve" made no sign of impatience or indifference at the slow passage of time. Shortly after midnight he was on his cot again. The pain evidently continued, for when he called for water and it was brought to him he could not drink it. "The most critical period in his whole fast has arrived," said the attendant physician, "and his life hangs in the balance." Hot water was kept constantly simmering over an alcohol lamp on the table, and other appliances were in readiness to counteract any fatal symptoms that might set in.

At half-past one o'clock in the morning Dr. Tanner rapped loudly against the side of his cot, and when Drs. Wark and Osborne went to him he asked to have the towel upon his head moistened. His request was complied with and the faster fell into an easy slumber. He did not again awake until five o'clock, when, glancing through the open window at the motionless leaves of the trees, he complained of the sultriness of the atmosphere. "I need all the air I can get now," he said; "I have rested pretty well, but oh! wasn't I tired. It don't take much to tire me now, but thank goodness I am nearly at the end of the race." A few minutes before seven o'clock the faster rose to dress and prepare for his drive. When it was over he exhibited himself in the main hall, where the curious public gazed their fill.

Visitors continued to pour into the hall among them many ladies, and at ten o'clock a number of groups stood in front of the platform where the faster sat in an easy chair. During the early part of the afternoon an immense watermelon was received as a present from Geo. Barden, of Nyack on the Hudson, but not even the presence of the luscious fruit, which had been placed adjacent to the easy chair in the long hall, had the slightest apparent effect upon him. Presently Dr. Gunn arrived and made his daily observations. While these observations were being made the patient complained to Dr. Gunn that during the day he had often felt as if his heart had stopped beating. When weighed he tipped the beam of the scale at 125½, which showed that since Saturday last he had lost one pound, and since the beginning of the fast thirty-two pounds in all.

DR. SAYRES DISCUSSES THE FAST.

Dr. Sayres responded with a smile when he was asked by a Herald reporter last evening what he thought of Dr. Tanner's fast.

"To tell you the truth," said he, "I have not thought much about it. I thought at first that there was a good deal of clap-trap and humbug about it, and not seeing any particular value in the experiment, I have not paid much attention to it."

"Then you do not look upon it as a genuine fast?" asked the reporter.

"I would hardly say that. Perhaps it is genuine. But I do think that it is not free from suspicion. When a man in the position that Dr. Tanner has been in, secluded crowds of people in a public hall, it is almost impossible to watch him so closely as to be certain that food has not been conveyed to him or that he has not eaten it. But are not the chemical tests that have been made good proofs?"

"I don't know about them."

"Would the fast, if conducted under scientific watch, be of any value in your estimation?"

"I don't see that it would. It is simply a question of endurance that Dr. Tanner is settling, if he settles anything. The fact that he can fast twenty days, if he can, is no evidence that you can. You may take two dogs, apparently just alike, and starve them, and one may last several days longer than the other. The men in the walking matches demonstrated something similar. They showed that one man could go on the track and walk for six days and another one could not."

"Would it not be of value as an indication of medical treatment?"

"I don't see that it would. The principal trouble we have to contend with in medical practice is the lack of nutrition."

"Then you think the honesty of the fast is open to suspicion, and if it is genuine it is a useless experiment?"

"That is it."

According to the Radical organs 'chevalier' general is a general who swears and chews tobacco." A "De Golver" general is a general who "swears and eschews the truth."

Crazy Jane, an old insane negro woman, recently wandered off from the work house where she has been for some time confined. Yesterday she was taken up near the city and returned.

A party of young men from Wilmington street went fishing on Wednesday morning to remain four or five days. Yesterday evening they returned with a full dose of a fisherman's luck.

Will there be a new registration this fall is asked by many. We do not think there will be a new general registration, but all who have changed their residence from one voting precinct to another will have to register anew.

Since crippled, ugly, grimy Vulcan married the lovely Goddess Venus, almost any one is liable to marry almost any one, but from the scarcity of marriage licenses issued this month hardly any one in Wake county wishes to marry any one.

ENTERPRISING.—Yesterday's noon telegrams brought us nearly two pages of what purported to be an important matter, but we could not see it, having printed the entire matter as a State news item on Tuesday last. It was then over two days old.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mrs. Nancy Bagwell, wife of S. W. Bagwell, died very suddenly yesterday at her residence, four miles from this city, from hemorrhage of the lungs. She will be buried to-day, the funeral taking place from her late residence.

IN HIS OLD QUARTERS.—On Monday last Phil Lane was released from jail. Yesterday Mayor Manly had him before the police court and giving him a choice of paying one dollar and costs or fifteen days in jail, he took the latter and once more Phil sleeps beneath the sheriff's tender care.

PROPOSED ENTERTAINMENT.—About three years ago an amateur company played two nights, and realized for Raleigh Light Infantry nearly $200, and now a number of that company, never tired of advancing the company's interest, propose among the members to give something of that character at no distant day, to procure funds to better equip themselves before attending the celebration of King's Mountain.

STATE RATIFICATION MEETING.—A movement is on foot to have a grand old-fashioned State Ratification Meeting at this place during the campaign. The ball was put in motion on Wednesday night by the Central Hancock, Jarvis and Cox club, and last night the Young Men's Democratic Club added their strength to the movement. A joint committee from the two clubs was appointed to make the necessary arrangements. It will be a day—a whole day—of jollification, speech-making and talking over the prospects of Democratic success. Every available speaker within the State will be invited, and no doubt others from a distance will be on hand. The following gentlemen from the two clubs of this city comprise the committee of arrangements: From the Central Hancock, Jarvis and Cox Club—Capt. Octavius Coke, George H. Snow, Esq., George M. Smedes, Esq., John D. Thompson, Esq., and Matt. Moore, Esq. From Young Men's Democratic Club—Messrs. E. A. Jones, F. B. Arendell, Henry Cole, H. E. Heartt and W. N. Jones.

Now let the State papers talk this matter over to their readers, and when the day is fixed make arrangements for everybody to come out and visit Raleigh, and join in the patriotic duty of ratifying the Democratic nominations, both State and National, and return to their homes to vote solidly for the same.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—The copartnership existing between Green & Sanders has been dissolved by mutual consent, and the proper notice appears in this morning's NEWS.

Horse and cow feed, grain, forage, meal, flour, coal, wood and lumber are advertised to-day by Job Osborn. See advertisement.

The second payment of 3 per cent. dividends on the stock of the North Carolina Railroad is ready for the Stockholders; so says the Secretary of the road in a notice to-day.

Claverack College and Hudson River Institute of Claverack, N. Y., advertises the 102d year, to open September 6th, 1880. Special inducements are offered to 50 ladies of the South. Read the advertisement.

Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Va., under the superintendency of Francis H. Smith, offers peculiar advantages for education, embracing the military system of instruction with the departments of science and of literary culture, and the more ennobling culture of the heart and soul. An advertisement of this school appears in to-day's issue.

SUPREME COURT.—Court opened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. All the Justices were present.

The consideration of appeals from the Eighth Judicial District was resumed, and causes were disposed of as follows:

O. B. D. Edwards vs. John Tipton, from Mitchell; called and left open on yesterday; motion, on affidavit, made by plaintiff for a writ of Certiorari—notice of motion to issue to defendant, and cause set for hearing at the end of the docket.

Mark Young vs. W. W. Rollins et als., from McDowell; argued by G. N. Folk, J. M. McCorkle and W. H. Malone for the plaintiff, and Merrimon, Fuller & Fuller for the defendants.

Pending the argument in the above case, the court adjourned until 10 o'clock this (Friday) morning, when the argument of counsel will be resumed.

ACCOMMODATING.—Col. A. B. Andrews, Superintendent of the North Carolina Railroad, who never permits an opportunity to pass where he can add to the pleasures of those living along the line of his road, has perfected arrangements for running a special train frem Raleigh to Kinston on Saturday, August 7th, for the accommodation of those who may wish to attend the joint discussion at that place, between Governor Jarvis and Judge Buxton. The train will leave Raleigh at 7 o'clock a. m., returning, reach here at 9 o'clock p. m. Fare for the round trip, $2. This is a splendid opportunity, and we would like if at least two hundred persons would take advantage of it from this point. Let's work up a good crowd.

THE PHARMACEUTICAL CONVENTION.—On Wednesday next, August 11, the druggists of this State will meet in convention in the Senate chamber of the Capitol for the purpose of perfecting a permanent organization of a State Pharmaceutical Association. Responses have been received from all the regular druggists in the State signifying their intention to be present, and arrangements are being made by our city physic dealers for the proper entertainment of their brother pharmacists during the deliberations of the convention. This action on the part of the druggists is a laudable one, theirs being a business requiring cautious, discreet and intelligent men, second not even to the practicing physician.

GOLD IN WAKE.—A gentleman living in the locality of Rhamkatte, brought to this city yesterday several nuggets of gold and had them examined by one of our jewelers. After finding that it was "real gold," he told that he had picked them out of Walnut Creek, in Rhamkatte, and immediately a number of our young men formed what will be known as the Walnut Creek Mining, Manufacturing and Gold Exploring Company, and will push forward the business of finding nuggets of gold, and manufacturing it into campaign badges, which will be sold during the present campaign.

GRADED SCHOOL.—At a meeting of the School Committee for Raleigh township, held on yesterday, the teachers of last session of the Raleigh Centennial Graded School were re-elected, as follows: Capt. John E. Dugger, Principal; Prof. N. Y. Gulley, Prof. J. Clarkson Blair, Mrs. Jno. A. McDonald, Miss Nettie Marshall, Miss Pattie Lawrence, Miss Pattie Litchford, Miss Alice Partin, Miss Nannie Tomlinson and Miss Annie Beckwith. Miss Mary McDonald was elected as assistant teacher in the primary department.

AGRICULTURAL.—The State Board of Agriculture, composed of the Governor, Col. T. M. Holt, Prof. W. C. Kerr, Hon. K. P. Battle, W. H. Cheek, J. R. Thigpen and Jonathan Evans, Esqs., will meet at the Executive office to-day, in called session, for the purpose of electing a Commissioner of Agriculture and Chemist for Experimental Station.

FIFTH DISTRICT CONVENTION.

SCALES AND ROBBINS.

[Special telegram to THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

GREENSBORO, August 5, 1880.

A large crowd, considering the bad weather, attended the District Convention here to-day.

GEORGE H. GREGORY, Esq., was temporary Chairman, and JAMES W. REID, Esq., of Rockingham county, was made permanent President of the Convention.

Gen. ALFRED M. SCALES, of Guilford county, was unanimously nominated for re-election to Congress.

FRANK C. ROBBINS, Esq., of Davidson county, was unanimously nominated for Presidential Elector.

The State and National tickets were warmly endorsed.

Our District is all right.

Tribute of Respect.

At a meeting of Raleigh Typographical Union, No. 54, held on the 4th of August, 1880, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, The Great Ruler of the universe, whose mysterious way we can in no way understand, has seen fit to call from life unto death one of our members, Mr. Frank C. Christophers, which event occurred on Sunday, July 12th, 1880; And while with humble hearts we can but say "Thy will be done," we feel it our duty to enact the following as a feeble mark of esteem in which our departed friend was held; therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of Frank C. Christophers this Union has lost one of its brightest members; one who was fully alive to all the best interests of his fellow-craftsmen, and who, in every walk through life, whether in the pursuits of his profession as a printer or the general business affairs of his mercantile career, was marked by such acts as to merit for him the proud distinction of a good and true man.

Resolved, That this Union tender to the bereaved family of the deceased our greatest sympathy in this sad affliction, and as a further testimonial the Secretary be instructed to forward to his father an engrossed copy of this preamble and resolutions.

Resolved, That these resolutions be made a part of the record of this meeting, and that the same be published in the city papers.

Respectfully submitted,
H. H. ROBERTS,
W. J. EDWARDS,
Z. T. BROUGHTON,
} Committee.

A RAINY DAY.—Yesterday the rain seemed to have worn itself out by coming down so fast. Presently it stopped, then it began to come down in slanting lines between the houses and the people began to collect under cover of the public passages, and looked out hopelessly at the sky as the rain dropped thicker and faster. Then wet umbrellas began to appear, draggled skirts and mud. What the mud had been doing with itself, or where it came from, who could tell? All day it rained, the superabundant moisture trickling from everything. The prospects of one on the look out for locals would hardly have been more desolate if animated nature had been dissolved in water and poured down upon the earth again in that form. And still it rains.

What North Carolinians are Doing.

GLEANINGS FROM STATE EXCHANGES.

Johnston married ten white and two black couples in July.

Three white and two colored couples were married in Wayne in July.

The Franklin Reporter notes the death on July 27th of Thomas Shepherd, an excellent citizen of Cowee, Macon county, aged 84 years.

Bishop Atkinson is better, and it was hoped would be able to go to the White Sulphur Springs yesterday; so the Wilmington Star learns.

The Murfreesboro Enquirer says that the new census gives Hertford county 11,858 people. In 1870 it had 9,273; increase nearly 30 per cent.

Chatham, the Record says, married four white and four colored couples in July. It has also an industrious hen which is not a year old but is the happy mother of 45 chickens.

Messrs. Melton Campbell, Jonathan Gore, John J. Long, H. B. Colyer and J. P. Stanly, the Wilmington Review says, have been elected County Commissioners of Columbus.

The Tarboro Southerner says that Pitt county assesses the lowest taxes of any county in the State. There is seven thousand dollars in her treasury. So much for Democratic rule.

The Durham Recorder hears from Person county glowing accounts of the crops, especially corn, which is of remarkable excellence. The wheat crop of the county was a little above the average. Tobacco is doing well and the crop promises to surpass expectation.

Chatham is thriving under Democratic Home Rule. The Record says that its tax levy this year, for State and county, is 66⅔ cents on property and $2.00 on polls, the lowest rate of taxation since the war. C. R. Scott, Esq., Capt. John A. Pugh, and W. H. Hatch, Esq., are the newly elected County Commissioners, honest and competent men.

The Goldsboro Messenger says that the colored asylum there was thrown open for the reception of patients on Monday last. Tuesday evening the institution had fifteen inmates, ten of whom were brought down from the Raleigh asylum. About twenty or thirty more are expected during the present week, and it is thought that the number will be increased to seventy-five by the end of this month. The present capacity of the building may be stated to be for one hundred and twenty-five patients. The number of colored insane in the State will probably exceed two hundred. New Hanover has applied to have twelve admitted from that county.

In 1879 the total valuation of all Wayne's taxable property, says the Messenger, was $2,935,685. The number of white polls in 1879 was 2,322, and colored 889. The State tax for 1879 was $7,060.64. The total for 1880 foots up $7,288.88. The school tax realized the sum of $5,786.19. The county tax has been reduced to 22½ cents on the hundred dollar valuation, and the poll tax to 68 cents. The county tax will realize $9,179.10. Last year the county tax amounted to $13,337.57. Another instance of what Democratic economy will do. Messrs. B. F. Hooks, W. B. Fort, D. A. Cogdell, John Ivey and Fred. Patrick have been re-elected County Commissioners.

Of the Western North Carolina Railroad, the Charlotte Observer says that "the surveying on both routes is going on. Capt. William Cain has charge of the Ducktown route, and has made the experimental line as far as Pigeon river, about twenty miles from Asheville. Col. Coleman, in charge of the Paint Rock branch, has gotten twelve miles out. The grading is completed to the Swannanoa river, two miles below Asheville, the nearest point that can be reached, and as soon as Mr. Best sends the iron to lay two miles of track from the head of the road, the Western North Carolina Railroad will be completed to Asheville, or as near there as it will ever be. Passengers are conveyed to and from the head of the road in omnibusses and the ride is not an unpleasant one."

STATE POLITICS:—

Chatham holds its Democratic primaries on August 28, and its County Convention on September 6.

Henry A. London, Jr., Esq., has been appointed Sub-Elector for Chatham, and will do good service on the stump as well as in the Chatham Record.

Pollocksville organized its Hancock and Jarvis Club on July 31 with 52 members. President, Dr. G. M. Morrison; Vice-Presidents, E. W. Haywood, H. A. White; Secretary, Geo. W. Koonce, Jr.

The Democrats of Stokes have nominated R. G. Glenn of Danbury for the House of Representatives. They also recommended W. B. Glenn, of Forsyth, for the Senatorial District nomination.

Rockingham county's Democratic nominees are: For Senate, H. R. Scott; House of Representatives, J. R. Webster and Jas. D. Glenn; Sheriff, John S. Johnston; County Treasurer, Jas. W. Reid; Register of Deeds, R. J. Lewellyn; Surveyor, E. W. Hancock; Coroner, J. J. Mitchell.

How Democracy Pays.

DEMOCRATIC ECONOMY VS. REPUBLICAN EXTRAVAGANCE.

[From the Goldsboro Messenger, 5th.]

The Board of Magistrates of Wayne county, in joint session with the Board of County Commissioners, on Monday last, upon recommendation of the latter body, fixed the rate of county tax for the year 1880, at 22½ cents on each hundred dollars of real and personal property, and the poll tax at 68 cents. This affords a striking illustration of Democratic economy vs. Republican misrule and extravagance.

Under the former Republican administration our county affairs were most wretchedly managed. The officials and their confederates were allied together in a monster ring of speculators, and county vouchers were refused in payment for taxes and could only be disposed of to the ring, and never for more than fifty cents on the dollar; mostly for less. The jurors of our courts were paid off in tickets almost worthless, while insolvent witness tickets seemed a perfect mockery. They were nearly worthless.

During the six years of Republican administration the tax rate for county purposes ranged from 31 cents to 50 cents on the hundred dollar valuation, while the poll tax ranged from 80 cents to $1.60; and yet, when the Democratic county commissioners assumed control in 1874, they found outstanding unpaid claims against the county amounting to fully $13,000, and an indebtedness to the county school fund of several thousands more. The tax levy that year was 50 cents. The records show that the county expenses had extravagantly increased from $10,602.43 for the year of 1869, to $14,390.41 in 1874.

Now let us contrast Democratic rule. In 1876 the tax rate was reduced to 28⅓ cents and the poll tax to 80 cents. There is no speculation in county claims and all vouchers have been promptly paid their face value by the county treasurer, and the county has been kept out of debt. The annual expenses were $9,713.78 in 1876, $9,404.26 in 1877, and this present year it will not be much above $8,000. The county is free of debt and has a surplus to her credit in the hands of the county treasurer of nearly $3,000, besides some $4,000 school money.

The tax levy for 1880 is less than half what it was under Republican rule in 1874. Then it was 50 cents, now only 22½ cents. The poll tax in 1872 was $1.60, in 1874, 80 cents, and now it is reduced to 68 cents. All this is the result of Democratic economy vs. Radical extravagance and corruption.

[From the Tarboro Southerner, 5th.]

We publish the following statement, showing the expense of the county government under Radical and under Democratic rule. It will be seen that under the old system of county government the expenses were over twice as much as under the present system.

Expenses of county government from December 1, 1875, to December 1, 1876, under Republican rule, $23,925.92.

December 1, 1876, to December 1, 1877, under Republican rule, $18,777.55.

December 1, 1877, to December 1, 1878, last year of Republican rule, $20,978.21.

December 1, 1878, to December 1, 1879, first year under Democratic rule, $7,687.12.

December 1, 1879, to August 1, 1880, nine months of Democratic rule, $6,492.73.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS:—

Commissioner Raum, of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, submitted his report on the 4th inst., showing that during the past fiscal year $123,981,916.10 of internal revenue taxes have been collected and paid into the treasury. During the past four fiscal years the total amount of taxes received by internal revenue collectors was $467,080,885.10, and the entire sum has been paid into the treasury. The cost of collection has been about 3 per cent. The great bulk of the taxes is paid promptly, with few penalties and without litigation. Frauds in most of the districts have been reduced to a minimum. During the past four years a well sustained effort has been made to suppress the illicit manufacture and sale of whisky and tobacco in a number of districts in the Southern States, where for many years these practices had been rife. During that period 3,874 illicit stills have been seized, 7,078 persons arrested for illicit distilling, 25 officers and employes have been killed and 55 wounded while enforcing the laws. Frauds upon the revenue have been greatly reduced, and violent resistance to the law has practically ceased in all of these districts, except the second district of Georgia.

The Charlotte Observer hears that a fatal duel has been fought in the Marlboro section of South Carolina between young Cash, a son of Col. Cash who recently killed Col. Shannon, and Mr. Blair, editor of the Camden Journal, in which the former was shot dead. The story received here is that young Cash challenged Blair on account of certain strictures that had appeared in Blair's paper on the late Cash-Shannon duel, and that the fighting was done with Winchester rifles at twenty paces.

The Tenth Annual Convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America is in session at Scranton, Pa. About 100 delegates, over 600 societies and 60,000 persons are present.

SNAKE ITEMS.

"Fresh and True" Stories About Things That Crawl.

[From the Brooklyn Eagle.]

"Do you want some Items about snakes?" said an agricultural-looking gentleman to the Eagle's city editor the other day.

"If they are fresh and true," responded the city editor.

"Exactly," replied the farmer. "These items are both. Nobody knows 'em but me. I got a farm down on the Island a piece, and there's lots of snakes on to it. Near the house is a pond about six feet deep. A week ago my little girl jumped into the pond, and would have drowned if it hadn't been for a snake. The snake seen her and went for her and brought her ashore. The particular point about this item is the way he did it."

"How was it?" asked the city editor.

"It was a black snake, about thirty feet long, and he just coiled the middle of himself around her neck so she couldn't swallow any water and swum ashore with his head and tail. Is that a good Item?"

"First class."

"You can spread it out, you know. After they got ashore the girl patted the snake on the head, and it went off pleased as Punch. Ever since then he comes to the house regular at meal times, and she feeds him on pie. He likes pie. Think you can make anything out of that item?"

"Certainly. Know any more?"

"Yes. I got a baby six months old. He's a boy. We generally set him out on the grass of a morning; he hollers like a bull all day, at least he used to, but don't any more. One morning we noticed he wasn't hollering and wondered what was up. When we looked, there was a rattle-snake coiled up in front of him scanning his features. The boy was grinning and the snake was grinning. Bimeby the snake turned his tail to the baby, and backed his rattle right into the baby's fist."

"What did the baby do?"

"Why he just rattled that tail so you could hear it three-quarters of a mile, and the snake lay there and grinned. Every morning we found the snake there, until one day a bigger snake came, and the baby played with his rattle just the same till the first snake came back. He looked thin and I reckon he had been sick and sent the other snake to take his place. Will that do for an item?"

"Immensely," replied the city editor.

"You can fill in about the confidence of childhood, and all that, and you might say something about the blue-eyed cherub. His name is Isaac. Put that in to please my wife."

"I'll do it. Any more snake items?"

"Lemme see. You've heard of hoop snakes?"

"Yes, often."

"Just so. Not long ago we heard a fearful row in our cellar one night. It sounded like a rock blast, and then there was a hiss and then things was quiet. When I looked in the morning I found the cider-barrel had busted. But we didn't lose much cider."

"How did you save it?"

"It seems that the staves had busted out, but before they could get away four hoop-snakes coiled around the barrel and tightened it up, and held it together until we drew the cider off in bottles. That's the way we found 'em, and we've kept them around the house ever since. We're training 'em for shawl-straps now. Does that strike you favorable for an item?"

"Enormously," responded the city editor.

"You can fix it up so as to show how quick they were to get there before the staves were blown off. You can work in the details."

"Of course. I'll attend to all that. Do you think of any more?"

"Ain't you got enough? Lemme think. O, yes! One Sunday me and my wife was going to church, and she dropped her garter somewhere. She told me about it, and I noticed a little striped snake running along side and listening to her. Bimeby he made a spring and wound himself around her stocking, or tried to, but he didn't fetch it."

"Why not?"

"He wasn't quite long enough. He jumped down and shook his head and started off. We hadn't got more'n a quarter of a mile when we see him coming out of the woods just ahead of us. He was awful hot and tired, and he had another snake with him, twice as big as he was. They looked at my wife a minute and said something to each other, and then the big snake went right to the place where the garter belonged. He wrapped right around it, put his tail in his mouth and went to sleep. We got him yet. We use him to hold the stove-pipe together when we put the stove up. Is that any use as an item?"

"Certainly," said the city editor.

"You can say something about the first snake's eye for distance, and his intellectuality, when he found he wouldn't go round. You know how to do that better than me."

"I'll give him all the credit he deserves. Can you tell us any more?"

"I don't call any to mind just at present. My wife knows a lot of snake items, but I forgot 'em. By the way, though, I've got a living curiosity down on my place. One day my oldest boy was sitting on the back stoop doing his sums, and he couldn't do 'em right. He felt something against his face, and there was a little snake coiled up on his shoulder and looking at the slate. In four minutes he had done all them sums. We've tamed him so he keeps all our accounts, and he is the lightningest cuss at figures you ever seen. He'll run up a column eight feet long in three seconds. I wouldn't take a reaper for him."

"What kind of a snake is he?" inquired the city editor, curiously.

"The neighbors call him an adder."

"Oh, yes! yes!" said the city editor, a little disconcerted. "I've heard of the species. When did all these things happen?"

"Along in the fore part of the spring, but I didn't say anything about 'em, 'cause it wasn't the season for snake items. This is about time for that sort of a thing, isn't it?"

"Yes," chipped in the exchange editor, "you couldn't pick out a better time for snake stories."

Dem "Tornadies."

[From the Detroit Free Press.]

"I wants to fin' some white man dat knows sumthin' 'bout tornadies," said an old colored man, as he sat down in a Griswold street tobacco store the other day.

"Well, what do you want to know about them?" asked a smoker.

"Waal, sah, Ize hearn dat dey am caused by wind. Am dat a fack?"

"Yes, tornadoes contain more or less wind, I believe."

"Some folks say dat dey start in de woods, an' odder folks say dat dey begin in de cl'arins. Kin you tell me which am de case?"

"I think they begin anywhere where it happens."

"So do I, sah. Dey is jist as likely to begin in my back yard as anywhar' else. Dat settles dat pint, an' now I want to ax you 'bout de signs. How kin we tell when a tornady am comin'?"

"I don't think you can tell."

"No, sah, nor I doan' either. Some folks say dat a pusson has a roarin' in de hed 'bout an hour 'fore de tornady gits along, but I doan' beliebe it. If I see one comin' what am it best to do?"

"Well, I hardly know."

"Nor I doan' either, sah. Some folks say you should take de train an' git outer town, but I dunno 'bout dat. Odder folks say you should tie yourself to a lamp-post wid a clothesline, but dar aint a post widin' half a mile o' my house."

"I think I should go down cellar."

"So should I, sah, but I hasn't got any cellar. De man who owns de house he doan' seem to car' two cents if de hull of us git blode sky-high."

"Then you might dig a hole in the yard large enough to hold the family."

"Say, dat's de ideah, suah's yer bo'n! Ize talked wid obor fifty pussons on de subject o' tornadies an' not one o' dem ever struck dat ideah. How large a hole will it take fur a fam'ly o' leven pussons?"

"Oh, a pretty large one."

"So it will, sah, but Ize a terror on diggin' up de sile; I'll have it all ready in less'n a week, an' while de rest o' de folks in this town am bein' blode sky-high by a tornady, my family will be holed up as safe as taters. One mo' queshun, sah, what sort o' shovel would you advise me to git to dig de hole?"

"I should say any sort would do."

"So should I, sah, you seem to hit it ebery time. Now, just one mo' queshun. Do you fink, from what you hab seen of me, an' from de advice you has bin so kind as to offer me, dat you could lend me de money to buy de shovel?"

Further conversation was bitten square in two at that point, and it will probably never be resumed again.

Session Opens 1st September.

The Report of the Special Board of Examiners for 1875 closes thus:—

In conclusion, your Committee cannot too highly commend what has seemed to them the marked and distinguishing features of this Institution, the happy combination of the military system of instruction with the departments of science and of literary culture, and the more ennobling culture of the heart and soul. Nowhere else have we seen this combination so complete and perfect. We cannot speak of it too highly. It is such a system as fits a pupil for life and for death. Under its guidance he is sure to tread always the path of duty, virtue and honor.

GILDERSLEEVE'S

LATIN SERIES.

—BY—

B. L. Gildersleeve, Ph. D., Gottingen, LL.D., Professor of Greek in Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

Rarely have text-books been greeted with so large a measure of favor and hearty appreciation, as these books by Professor Gildersleeve have received from the best scholastic and educational minds of the country. The author, now of national reputation as a scholar, has had very complete preparation for such a work. After being graduated at Princeton, he studied for several years in the Universities of Germany, where he received his Ph.D., etc., with highest honors. His subsequent life has been devoted to teaching and linguistic study. When the new and richly endowed Johns Hopkins University sought for a fit man for its chair of Greek, the appointment was conferred on Prof. Gildersleeve, after wide conference, and without his solicitation or effort, and his work as senior professor of the University attracts marked attention. He is also the presiding officer of the American Philogical Association.

Prof. Gildersleeve's Latin books are the product of this order of ability and educational training. Embodying the best results of recent studies in Latin philology, they are simple, clear and practical in method.

THE LATIN PRIMER,

complete in itself, a naturally developed course for beginners, at once holds the interest of the pupil, and prepares him thoroughly for ready and intelligent use of Grammar and Reader, or Latin author. It supplies: "Maximum of Forms; Minimum of Syntax; Early Contact with the Language in Mass."

A teacher in one of the leading High Schools of the country, who conducted a large class through this book, writes:

"We have just finished the Primer, having spent upon it thirty-four weeks; and I have been trying to realize my pupils' attitude towards the study, as compared with that of other classes I have known. They have the use of a larger vocabulary; their text-book has secured for them a careful drill in the normal terminations; they have been brought more into contact with the language in the concrete, and have, therefore, a more vivid interest in it; and they have been less perplexed by exceptional forms and difficult construction.

"The book is thoroughly alive, and will perforce make its students so."

THE LATIN GRAMMAR

is marked by its genuine scholarship, clear and logical arrangement of material, and a typography that pleasantly aids the eye. Its presentation of forms is plain and convenient; its definitions, rules and other statements are brief and pointed; and its translations of illustrative examples are most striking models for students.

THE LATIN READER

has Fables and Stories; "De Gestis Alexandri," a most interesting narrative, chiefly from Curtius; one book of Cæsar's "De Bello Gallico," treated in a manner to make it an admirable drill in Latin Syntax; also notes and References to the Grammar, and a Vocabulary.

THE LATIN EXERCISE-BOOK,

a book of Latin Composition, compact in form, is noticeable for its well-graded course of exercises, apt choice of idioms, and adaptation to train the average learner to a thorough mastery of the words and constructions of the language.

Single specimen copies for examination furnished on receipt of the following prices:

LATIN PRIMER, 12mo, 192 pages	$0 65
LATIN GRAMMAR, 12mo, 384 pages	95

Standard Text-Books,

A. S. BARNES & CO.,

111 and 113 William Street,

NEW YORK.

Readers and Spellers:

WATSON'S NEW SERIES.

The lower numbers of this reading series are remarkable for the "word-building system," the high order of the illustrations, and the interesting but strictly progressive character of the reading lessons. The higher volumes challenge comparison on account of their elocutionary treatises and the noble range of selection from standard literature.

Independent Primary Reader.
" Second Reader.
" Third Reader.
" Fourth Reader.
" Fifth Reader.

CLARK'S DIAGRAMMAR

will eventually supersede all others. No other system makes the study so pre-eminently interesting. Its principal peculiarity is the device for confirming oral and written instruction in the parts of speech, their relations, etc., by appeals to the eye and the faculty of order or arrangement.

Clark's Brief English Grammar.
" Normal Grammar.

MONTEITH'S GEOGRAPHIES

have been officially adopted for the following States: Alabama, Vermont, Minnesota, Texas, Missouri, Virginia, Tennessee Kansas, Iowa, Delaware, Nebraska, North Carolina, Louisiana, Utah, Wyoming, Dakotah, Colorado, Florida, Oregon, and California.

Elementary Geography.
Comprehensive Geography.

BARNES' BRIEF HISTORIES.

These charming volumes are as attractive in language and "make-up" as they are thorough in practical facilities for the learner. Although so recently published, it is believed that the United States History is already more extensively used than any other of its grade.

A brief History of the United States.
A brief History of the World (in press.)
A brief History of France.

DAVIES' MATHEMATICS

are justly called the National Standard. They are used in the great National Schools at Annapolis and West Point, in the public schools of the National Capital, have received the quasi endorsement of the National Congress, and are more popular in every section of the national boundary than any other series.

Since the death of Dr. Davies (in 1876), his work has been carried on by Dr. W. G. Peck (who was his trusted colleague), and under whose supervision the following entirely new series of text-books has been prepared, covering the whole science:

Davies' & Peck's brief Arithmetic.
" " complete Arithmetic.
Peck's Manual of Algebra.
Peck's Manual of Geometry.
Peck's Practical Calculus.
Peck's Analytical Geometry.

STEELE'S NATURAL SCIENCE.

The "Fourteen Weeks" books in each science are very popular on account of the brief but intensely interesting and practical presentation of the subjects.

Steele's 14 weeks in Natural Philosophy.
" " Chemistry.
" " Astronomy.
" " Geology.
" " Physiology.
" " Zoology.
" " Botany.

E. J. HALE & SON,

PUBLISHERS,

Booksellers & Stationers

17 Murray Street, NEW YORK.

Who is Your Wife?

A COMPLEX CONUNDRUM COLLOQUIALLY CONSIDERED.

BY WALDORF H. PHILLIPS.

We beg leave to announce that we have published, under the above title, a very novel and remarkable work. It is, in the form of fiction, a humorous and powerful satire on Divorce Laws and their complications. The author takes for his text a proposed new marriage ceremony, thus:—

"Do you take this woman to be your wife—until you are divorced?

"Do you take this man to be your husband—until you change your mind?

"Then, they whom I unite, let some Court put asunder."

The work is full of humor and keen satire; it is decidedly a most original and novel addition to American publications, and it is confidently believed will prove the literary sensation of the year. Price, in paper binding, 50c.; in cloth, 75c. Can be had of all Booksellers and News Dealers, or will be sent, postage paid, upon receipt of the price, by the publishers.
